Don't waste your ideas....

Do you want to make a difference?

We do, and we are looking for people like you...

The Child Outcomes Research Consortium (CORC) is dedicated to improving mental health and wellbeing of young people by learning from research and experience

We are not just looking for people with lots of experience sharing their thoughts - we are looking for people who are:

excited about change

ready to make an impact on the lives of young people

willing to speak up

Join the CORC Advisory Group

A group of professionals, parents and carers, and young people, shaping CORC's work so that everyone focuses on outcomes, impact, feedback and evidence to improve support

Access the role description, person specification, and benefits of joining by visiting corc.uk.net
